template choices

Posted At : December 10, 2010 1:36 PM | Posted By : Andrea
Related Categories: Templ8 Builder

Choices, Choices, Choices……

It may not seem possible but building a website just got even easier with Reason8! The new, fun, friendly and inspiring home page offers all the information you need and some simple choices. You can browse through the new collection of pre-designed templates or go straight into designing your own website header using the host of amazing tools and options. Whichever option you choose, Reason8's new Template builder has made "building a professional business website" something which anyone, and we mean anyone, can enjoy and accomplish with pride!

Click the View our Designs button and you'll be taken to the new and exciting template collection.

All the templates here can be edited and tweaked to your own taste and can incorporate your company name, slogan, information, logo's, images etc., etc. They can be changed as much or as little as you require.

Either browse through the pages to pick one you like or you can search through the choices by Colour, Style or Type.

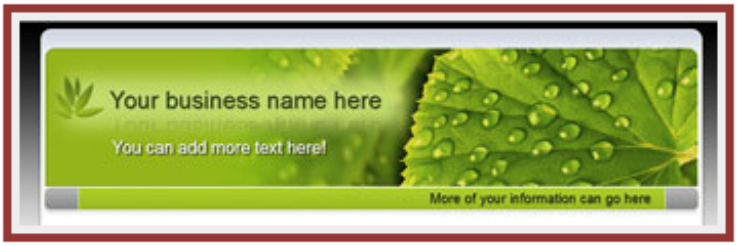
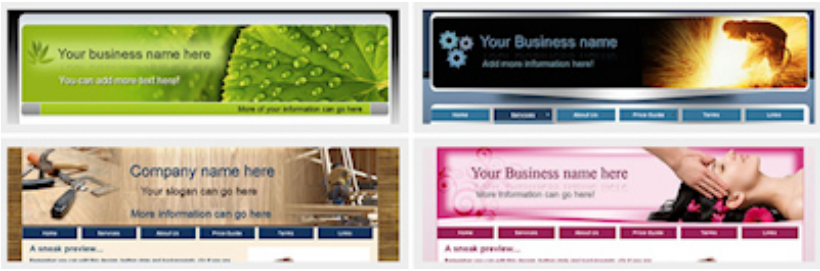
If you currently have a certain colour scheme which you use for your company then viewing all the colour related templates will help you find the perfect design.



You may want to start with a fresh look for your online business and have a certain style in mind. Choose from traditional, contemporary, unusual, funky, simple, fresh or dark!



If like many new website builders you really don’t know where to start, why not view a collection of template designs of a certain “Type”. From the choices of: Fun, Generic, Indulgence, Materialistic, Nature and Serious, you should be able to find a design to give you the perfect inspirational starting block for your website.

There really are some gorgeous designs in the new template collection but if you have something very specific in mind they why not go back to the home page and click the Design your Own button. This will open up the Template builder tool box with a very simple faded grey design for you to completely change to add all your own colours, styles, effects, images, logo's and text.

Either way, you'll be launching an impressive new website within a very short space of time.